Woman's Life Saved by Clotheslines—Husband Is Arrested.

Charged by his wife, a toride of two weeks, with pushing her out of the floor of the apartment house No. 1425 Charlotte Street, the Brons, Isidore Milirad, a tailor, was looked up today on a charge of felonious assault to await he result of his bride's in-

Mrs. Milirad, whose plungs from the fifth floor was broken by clothes lines, is in Lincoln Hospital with internal injuries and lacerations of the right hip and elbow. The doctors say she will recover.

To Coroner Healy, who was called when it appeared the woman might die, Mrs. Millrad said the only motive | she could ascribe for her husband wanting to get rid of her was an admission she had made to him a few days ago of indiscretions committed before her marriage.

She says Millrad questioned her about reports concerning her past, and that when she admitted they were true he forgave her. She said the subject had not been touched upon since that time.

Milirad, who was a widower with three children when he married again, denies that he pushed his wife from the window. He says he was nowhere near her at the time and insists that her accusation is due to her hysterical nature. The police say Mrs. Milirad told her story without the elightest trace of hys-

She says she was preparing breakfast while her husband was dressing to attend the New Year service at a nearby synagogue. She declares he called her into the dining room and suggested that she go to the window and take a look at the furniture in the apartment of a neighbor across the court. She did as he requested, whereupon he shoved her over the

Her screams as she fell brought neighbors to windows and soon the house was in an uproar. Policeman Stillman called an ambulance from Lincoln Hospital and arrested Millrad. Tenants in the adjoining apartments said they had heard no quarrel.

AGREEMENT IS REACHED BY MEXICAN CONFEREES

Secretary Lane Says It Is Satisfactory-No Deadlock Between Commissioners.

NEW LONDON, Conn., Sept. 28 .-Secretary Lane, member of the American Commission in conference with the Mexican representatives here, to-day predicted a satisfactory agreement will be reached and the conferences adjourned within two weeks. Within a week the Commissioners will be able to make definite recommendations to Mexico City and Washington, Lane believes.

There is no deadlock between the Commissioners, it was stated. Villa is the only bandit now giving serious concern. The others are regarded as trivial, but, as a whole, Villa's activities are looked upon by the Commissioners as having been exaggerated. The conferrees hold their last session here to-day. They meet in future at Atlantic City, beginning Mon-

Sees Danger That "Present Great Wealth May Submerge Ca." KANSAS CITY, Sept. 28 .- "If ever s people should pause; if ever they should look abroad and profit by the experiences of others, should comprehend their national dangers, in the light of the terrible realities that are being enacted before their eyes in other nations, it is now, and we are that people."

In those words Frank A. Vanderlip addressed to-day the annual convention of American bankers. He warned his hearers they should not take two easily the present great wealth of this country that "seems dangerously likely to submerge us in our own prosperity."

Mr. Vanderlip, after speaking of the war's cost in Europe and outlining the financial status of this country, declared:
